Forecast for Monday 05 Feb 2024

Weather: Extensive low cloud and heavy rain continuing across the region on Monday. Some sleet or snow on hill tops but potentially to lower levels in the north. The front will clear southwards during the evening, with rain turning lighter. Cloud breaking up late evening to allow some clear spells mixed with scattered showers, these wintry on hill tops.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 30%

Low cloud and visibility: Scattered or broken low cloud base 500-700m, clearing south late evening. Visibility moderate or poor, good at times by late evening.

Met Office Aberdeen Meteorologist's View
Persistent heavy rain, accompanied by very strong winds, will cause difficult walking conditions.

Forecast for Tuesday 06 Feb 2024
Weather: A cloudy start to the day with a few showers. Cloud mostly clearing south by midday to allow prolonged sunny spells, again perhaps the odd shower. Any showers falling as sleet and snow above around 400m during the morning and to low levels into the afternoon.

Maximum wind: Westerly 20-25 mph gusting 35-45 mph at first, easing northwesterly 10-15 mph

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 80%

Low cloud and visibility: Few or scattered cloud base 500-700m in association with showers. Visibility poor in sleet or snow, otherwise good.

Temperature: Glens: Plus 5 to zero Celsius
At 800m: Minus 2 to minus 6 Celsius
Freezing level: Falling to the surface through the day
